

Nassau TRACT Teacher Center
and
Hofstra University
Present

Ed Tech Essentials With Monica Burns

November 9, 2022

8:00AM to 3:00PM - Registration at 8:00 – Presentation at 8:30
In-person at Hofstra University

There is no charge for this conference

Dr. Monica Burns is an EdTech and Curriculum Consultant, author of EdTech Essentials (ASCD, 2021) and former New York City public school teacher. She works with schools and organizations around the world to support PreK-20 educators with thoughtful technology integration. Monica's website, ClassTechTips.com and Easy EdTech Podcast helps educators place “tasks before apps” by promoting deeper learning with technology.

In a world awash in technology, what EdTech skills and strategies should educators focus on to ensure they are making the best use of online spaces for classroom learning?

This session will include an overview of the top technology strategies for all learning environments. Participants will examine ways to help students navigate online spaces, share their learning and connect their work to relevant audiences, develop transferable skills, and create digital learning products. During this interactive session, participants will explore ways to curate the best digital resources for students, how to introduce opportunities for students to explore the world, as well as the importance of developing collaboration structures and assessing students with intention. The session will conclude with tips for planning future tech-rich learning experiences.

Registration is on Front Line/ My Learning Plan. Go to nassautract.org and follow links

Click here to register

Nassau TRACT Teacher Center
Phone 516-605-1345, Fax 516-605-1343
email: info@nassautract.org web site: www.nassautract.org